Volunteer BIO: Susan Mott – Volunteers in Policing

After taking on the challenge of coaching kids field hockey, Susan Mott decided that she wanted to give more of her time, so she volunteered for V.I.P (volunteers in policing).

Just under a year later Mrs. Mott is still helping to keep many Gold Coast residents safe by doing letter box drops to ensure safety awareness, especially amongst the elderly, as well as giving home security audits for those who are most vulnerable and in need of assistance.

In the wake of the devastating flooding this past summer, Mrs. Mott gave generously of her time when she volunteered through the PCYC to aid those who had been affected. She said that she didn't want to be sitting at home during such a time.

“After the flooding I thought that I could help in some way. It is great to be able to help people who have had it so tough.”

Mrs. Mott said that volunteering has been a very rewarding experience and is a great way to make a difference in the community.

“If you have a spare moment to help, there are lot's of people out there who need help,” she said.

“What makes it all worthwhile is the gratitude that people show. I get such a feeling of accomplishment when people are thankful. That is genuine.”
